Confidentiality Guideline

Academic Advisory System (to be shared to Advisees)

The Academic Advisory Service provided under each faculty is confidential. This means everything you have been shared with during the academic advisory session would come under the jurisdiction of ethics of confidentiality. The academic advisor will not disclose any verbal or written information without your permission or agreement under normal circumstances.

However, under rare conditions, disclosure may occur without your consent in counselling related referral cases, if there is information deemed put to you or others at risk (including high/imminent suicide risk, and/or after a suicide attempt).